

Application for investigation into undue delay

You can only ask the Service Complaints Ombudsman for the Armed Forces (SCOAF) to investigate undue delay when:

- you believe there has been undue delay in the handling of a Service Complaint you have made; or
- you believe there has been undue delay in the handling of a Service Matter you have raised; and,
- the Service Complaint or Service Matter is still open.

A Service Matter is any matter that has been raised with the Service and could potentially be a Service Complaint, but a Service Complaint has not been made.

This could mean you have:

- made an informal complaint
- submitted an Annex F/written statement of complaint, but an admissibility decision has not yet been made.

What if my Service Complaint is now closed?

If you exhausted the internal process and think that the delays in handling your Service Complaint were unfair, you can make an application for a maladministration investigation.

What is undue delay?

There is no legal definition of undue delay, but in general terms it means that the time taken to do something has been unwarranted or excessive.

If you need any further information, or assistance to complete this form, please phone 0300 369 0689 or email contact@scoaf.org.uk

What is your current unit and location?

It doesn't matter if you have changed units since you made your Service Complaint or raised your Service Matter.

If you are no longer serving, please provide the details of your last unit.

Are there any restrictions on when/how we can contact you?

It is really important that we can contact you if we need to follow up on something to do with your application. Please let us know if there are certain days or times when we can't contact you – including periods of leave or deployment. If we can't contact you, we might have to close your case on our system.

Reasonable adjustment

Sometimes, because of a disability or long-term health condition, people need to ask us to make changes to the way we do things so that they are not disadvantaged.

This could include providing information in plain language or a different format.

You can find more information about reasonable adjustment on our website.

Do you need us to make any reasonable adjustments? Yes No

Application for investigation into undue delay

If yes, please let us know what we can do.

Section 2 – Details of the alleged undue delay

Please complete all fields in this section

What type of complaint is it?

The process is the same regardless of the type of complaint but this information helps us to understand what has happened.

See the notes on the cover page for an explanation of what a Service Matter is.

Service Matter

Who is dealing with your complaint?

We need to know who to contact to start our investigation. Please provide the name and email address for the person handling your complaint.

If you don't know, please provide details of who you made your complaint to.

What have you done to try and resolve this yourself?

It is important that you take ownership of your complaint. Have you raised your concerns with the person handling your complaint? Have you spoken to your AO? If not, why? If yes, when and what happened as a result of this?

What has been the impact of the delay?

Have you missed out on something that you can never get back? Has there been an impact on your wellbeing? How has the delay been unfair or unjust?

Section 3 - Privacy statement

SCOAF is committed to the protection of your privacy in accordance with the Data Protection Act 2018. Our aim is to ensure that the information you provide us is handled in a secure, efficient and confidential manner.

How do we process your information?

When you complete our application form we will transfer the information you provide to our Case Management System.

In the next section you will be asked to give consent for us to process and use your information. We have clearly set out each of the ways SCOAF may use your information.

What if I have concerns about how my personal information is handled?

If you are concerned about how we handle your personal information you have the right to make a complaint. You can do this by contacting our data protection officer at privacy@scoaf.org.uk.

For more information about what we do with your personal information please read our privacy policy.
