

Please complete this application form if you want the Service Complaints Ombudsman for the Armed Forces (SCOAF) to investigate the substance and/or maladministration in the handling of your Service Complaint.

What is substance?

This is what the Service Complaint was about.

SCOAF can investigate the substance of a complaint, but is not a further level of appeal.

What is maladministration?

It means that something was wrong or improper in the way your Service Complaint was handled.

SCOAF can investigate allegations of maladministration in the handling of Service Complaints. This type of investigation does not look at whether your complaint should have been upheld or not.

You can only ask for these investigations once you have received a final determination (see below) on your complaint at the end of the internal process.

When is a complaint finally determined?

A complaint is finally determined when:

- A decision has been made on the Service Complaint by a Decision Body, which you have appealed and been given a final determination by an Appeal Body (Appeal Body determination).

OR

- A decision has been made on the Service Complaint by a Decision Body, which you have no grounds to appeal on (Decision Body determination).

OR

- You appealed the Decision Body's decision, but it has been decided that the appeal cannot proceed (is inadmissible) and you do not ask the Ombudsman to review that admissibility decision (Appeal inadmissibility determination).

OR

- You submitted an appeal of the Decision Body's decision, which was found to be inadmissible, and then asked the Ombudsman to review that appeal admissibility decision. If the Ombudsman agreed that the appeal was inadmissible, our appeal admissibility decision is the final determination (SCOAF appeal admissibility determination).

Application for a substance and/or maladministration investigation

Not all applications for investigation are accepted. Each application is initially assessed to determine if it is eligible for investigation.

If the application is eligible, we will then 'triage' it to decide whether your complaint, or any part of it, should be investigated. The points we consider when triaging applications include, but are not limited to:

- Is it likely a new investigation would result in a different outcome?
- The redress you are asking for can be achieved.
- There is a public interest in SCOAF conducting an investigation.
- An investigation would be a proportionate use of the Ombudsman's powers.
- For maladministration applications, there appears to be potential that you suffered injustice because of the maladministration you are complaining about.

If your application is not accepted, we will send you a decision letter explaining why.

If you need any further information, or help to complete this form, please telephone 0300 369 0689 or email contact@scoaf.org.uk

Details of the final determination

Has your Service Complaint been finally determined?

Yes ☐ No ☐

Who made the final determination?

➤ Decision Body determination ☐

Please note: You can submit an appeal of the Decision Body determination to the relevant Service Complaint Team within two weeks of receiving the decision. If you do this, or are in the process of appealing the Decision Body determination, SCOAF cannot consider an application for an investigation into substance and/or maladministration as the Service Complaint process is ongoing.

➤ Appeal inadmissibility determination ☐

If you have received an appeal admissibility decision, which was that the appeal could not proceed (was inadmissible), you have the option of asking SCOAF to review that decision. Please see our website for further information.

➤ SCOAF appeal admissibility determination ☐

If we have reviewed the appeal admissibility decision, and agreed that it was inadmissible, please give us the case reference of our determination: ADM(A)202_____

➤ Appeal Body determination ☐

Date of the final determination:

If there were any delays in you being sent, or receiving, the final determination, which means your application to SCOAF is late, please provide details below.

Applications to SCOAF must be made within 6 weeks and 2 days of the date of the final determination.

A late application may be accepted if it is considered 'just and equitable' to allow it. This means that there are reasons SCOAF views as right, fair and reasonable. Accepting a late application is an exception.

Application for a substance and/or maladministration investigation

Is the final determination dated more than 6 weeks and 2 days ago?

What type of investigation are you applying for?

You can use this form to apply for a substance investigation, a maladministration investigation, or both.

Section 3 – Substance

Please complete all fields in this section

What was your original complaint about?

Please provide a brief summary in your own words. Do not cut and paste from your Annex F or statement of complaint, especially if you think your complaint was misinterpreted.

SCOAF can only consider the issues that were found to be admissible as a Service Complaint. You can't raise any new complaints here.

Why do you think the final decision on your Service Complaint was wrong?

Tell us why you disagree with the final decision that has been made on your Service Complaint. What is wrong with it? How is a new investigation by SCOAF likely to reach a different conclusion?

Please note that the Ombudsman is not a further level of appeal and will only conduct a new investigation in certain circumstances.

What redress do you want if your complaint is upheld?

You need to be specific about what you think would be appropriate redress if a new investigation is carried out and your complaint is upheld.

There are limits to the Ombudsman's powers. The Ombudsman can make recommendations about redress, but cannot make the Services or the Ministry of Defence provide specific redress. Visit our website for more information.

Section 4 – Maladministration

Please complete all fields in this section

Why do you think your complaint wasn't handled properly?

You need to tell us what was wrong (the maladministration) with the handling of your complaint, including any undue delay.

JSP 831-Redress of individual grievances: Service Complaints sets out the policy and procedure for handling Service Complaints, including time scales.

How has this affected you?

You need to explain how the maladministration set out above impacted you and any injustice you have suffered because of it.

What redress do you want if we find that there was maladministration?

If we uphold your complaint of maladministration in the handling of your Service Complaint, what do you think would be appropriate redress?

There are limits to the Ombudsman's powers. The Ombudsman can make recommendations about redress, but cannot make the Services or the Ministry of Defence provide specific redress. Visit our website for more information.
